

"Fast, Cost effective and high quality solution for short run disc production"

One of the main things we get asked here at Media Movers is "what is the difference between duplication and replication?" Put simply, duplication is the same as recording a CD on your computer but on a mass scale, replication is "pressing" a disc in a factory environment. Duplication is used for short runs up to 500 or when turnaround of larger runs is short. The over all quality is still excellent.

Advances in recordable CD and DVD technology has resulted in an extremely reliable and cost effective alternative to disk replication. Media Movers has invested heavily in high levels of equipment that create quality duplication - all disks are tested after duplication to guarantee quality output. Media Movers leads the market in duplication print technology and quality, with a mixture of colour thermal, UV cured inkjet and offset print.

A sector we excel in is that of "pre-printed" CD-R's. We print your discs in with stunning graphics, and leave the disc blank for you to burn later. This means when you are sending discs, it gives a much better impression. No more cheap looks by writing on discs with pens!

Benefits:

- Fast turnaround. 24 hours available.
- Large storage capacity, up to 8.5 GB with dual layer DVD
- 2 high quality colour print options available, thermal & UV cured Inkjet
- Low quantities possible, minimum orders is just 50 copies.
- Save time and money over duplicating in-house
- Disc can be left blank, so you can add individual content to each one at your leisure.

The finished discs can then be packaged in to nearly every style of packaging available for replication. We have exceptional quality in-house digital printers for your DVD slicks, CD covers and booklets. We can also package your discs in to our standard mailer solutions. The only packages not available for orders less than 500 are printed tray-packs and printed card wallets.

Applications:

Software • Music albums and singles • Corporate communications • Films • Graphic design proofs • Promotional tools • Update releases • Training DVDs • Motivational material • Pre-release promo's • Press releases •
